

“Cello” Etude
Op. 25 No. 7

Frederic Chopin
Arranged by David Marlatt

This etude, from the second set of studies, is popularly known as the "Cello" due to the prominent melody played in the left hand. There are several arrangements of this work for cello and piano, the most famous version being by Glazunov. He altered the key from C# minor to D minor. That is the key of this arrangement for brass quintet which has been written to feature the tuba.

It was arranged featuring Patrick Sheridan with the All-Star Brass.

Note: There are significant differences between this printed arrangement and the wonderful recording by the group. They made these changes during the recording process to allow for complete freedom of the soloist.

“Groups that want to tackle these charts will probably eventually get our recording. They will then hear any changes and that may provoke questions about why. Questions are good for all of us since it gets people talking not only about the charts, but about why any decision is made at all, on a transcription where artistic freedom is always king.”

This is an example of great artists incorporating their own collaborative ideas to make a work “their own”. Another group may take this same arrangement and alter it differently again to suit their taste and players.

The image shows a musical score for a cello etude, page 7, covering measures 66, 67, and 68. The score is written for five staves: a bass staff at the top, followed by three treble staves, and a bass staff at the bottom. The key signature is one sharp (F#) and the time signature is 4/4. Measure 66 features a melodic line in the top bass staff with dynamics mp, p, and pp. The middle three staves have accompaniment with dynamics mp, p, and pp. Measure 67 continues the melodic and accompaniment lines. Measure 68 concludes the passage with a final note in the top bass staff and sustained accompaniment in the other staves.
